■ INTRODUCTION

Urban safety and environmental management are challenges for any country in the world today. Scientists, researchers, academics and politicians from universities, institutions, governments and societies are working together to find new solutions to these global issues. Recognizing the importance, International Research Institute of Disaster Science (IRIDeS) at Tohoku University, and International Center for Urban Safety Engineering (ICUS) at Institute of Industrial Science (IIS), the University of Tokyo (UTokyo) are co-organizing “The 16th International Symposium on New Technologies for Urban Safety of Mega Cities in Asia (USMCA2017)” during November 26-28, 2017 in Sendai, Japan, as a side event of International Disaster and Risk Conference 2017 “World Bosai Forum.” The USMCA has been held for 15 times in different cities in Asia, and this will be a good opportunity to see current conditions of the coastal areas affected by the 2011 Great East Japan Earthquake.

The registrants of USMCA2017 can participate in sessions, special programs, and other activities, including the opening ceremony prepared for the World Bosai Forum.

We would like all participants to spend fruitful time in the events as well as USMCA2017.

■ TECHNICAL TOUR

International Research Institute of Disaster Science (IRIDeS) will organize a one-day tour to see current recovery and reconstruction conditions of coastal areas affected by the 2011 Great East Japan Earthquake and Tsunami. Visitors will have the opportunity to visit new urban facilities, parks, and communities.

■ ABOUT SENDAI CITY

Sendai is a city with a population of one million, and is the political and economic center of Japan's Tohoku(northeast)Region. Although Sendai is a large city, it is known throughout Japan as a modern city in harmony with nature. The city possesses beautiful scenery, such as the Hirose-gawa River that runs through central Sendai, and the lush zelkova trees that line its streets. Greenery is especially abundant in the center of the city, which has tree-lined streets and parks. As a result, Sendai is called the “City of Trees.”
